

The Polls Heavy Vote By Write-Ins

Minneapolis (AP)—General Eisenhower, fresh from a victory in New Hampshire's presidential primary election, ran a strong write-in second to favorite son Harold E. Stassen last night with nearly one-sixth of the precincts reporting in Minnesota's primary.

In Hennepin county, the state's most populous, Eisenhower was running nearly two to one over Stassen with about one-fourth of the precincts reporting.

Most political observers believed the primary would be a "shoo-in" for Stassen, elected governor of the state three times.

Returns from 645 of the state's 3769 precincts gave Eisenhower 18,123 votes to 24,807 for Stassen. The totals included no write-in votes from the St. Paul, the state's second city. Only automatically counted voting machine figures were available at first from St. Paul.

On the Democratic ballot, Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn.), ran well ahead of President Truman in the write-in race. However, Senator Humphrey (D-Minn.), the only one whose name was printed on the Democratic ballot, had announced he would turn over his delegation to the President if he chose to run again. No campaign had been made for Truman in the state. A small effort had been made for Kefauver.

Humphrey in 644 precincts got 17,279 votes. Kefauver polled 3,344 and Truman 654.

A surprising heavy vote was recorded in some areas of the state, despite mixed rain and snow that fell most of the day.

Paris, (AP)—Paul G. Hoffman said yesterday he has advised General Eisenhower to give up his NATO command and go home to work for the Republican presidential nomination.

From high sources it was indicated Hoffman felt he had brought the general part way toward agreement.

Publicly Hoffman, a leader in the Eisenhower movement, said Eisenhower had made no commitments whatever about returning.

But privately Hoffman evidently had told some of his associates he felt that a busy political weekend had persuaded Eisenhower that duty did not bind him to remain at his supreme headquarters right up to the hour of the Republican national convention July 7.

(By the Associated Press)
Plans to enter a slate of delegates pledged to President Truman on the California primary ballot have been abandoned.

Frank McKinney, national Democratic chairman, made the announcement yesterday from Key West, Fla., where he has been talking with the President.

Under previous plans, Truman would have fought it out with Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee for the state's 68 delegates in the Democratic primary June 3.

Kefauver scored a striking victory over Truman in the recent New Hampshire primary.

There have been reports that some administration men have looked askance at McKinney since then, saying he used faulty strategy in having Truman entered in New Hampshire.

Two of the four Republican delegates elected at large in North Carolina went to Senator Taft of Ohio. One went to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and one was uncommitted. Twenty-two delegates were elected at district conventions earlier.

Taft's forces claim he has 18 votes, while Eisenhower's backers say the score reads 10 to 10, with six uncommitted.

Scientist Urges Chutes For Planes

Washington (AP)—A Mayo foundation scientist yesterday advocated use of big parachutes to break the fall of a disabled airplane and allow it to descend in an upright position.

Dr. Edward J. Baldes said this would help eliminate deaths and injuries among passengers and also reduce destruction on the ground, such as occurred in recent crashes at Elizabeth, N. J.

In a report to the annual international convention of the Aero Medical Association—made jointly with Prof. James J. Ryan of the University of Minnesota—Dr. Baldes also advocated other measures as possible means of preventing injuries.

Boy Fatally Slapped By Foster Mother

Fort Worth, Tex., (AP)—A 29-year-old woman was held on a charge of murder yesterday for the fatal slapping of her five-year-old foster son who wouldn't stop saying his ABCs.

The woman, Mrs. Rubye Ray, said in a written statement that she struck the boy, Johnny, when he irritated her while she was ironing in the kitchen of her home last Friday.

He was saying his ABCs, she said, and wouldn't stop when she told him to stop.

"He made me mad, not crazy mad—just mad," she said. She slapped him and he fell off the chair, ran outside. Later he ran back in and crumpled over on the floor.

The child had been kept in a home for neglected children in Fort Worth until Mrs. Ray and her husband took him in April, 1947. Records at the home show that the child was subnormal mentally and almost blind.

Senate Group Refuses Morris Power To Subpoena Witnesses, Documents

Meade Bullets Fired From Inside Hotel

Philadelphia (AP)—District Attorney Richardson Dilworth said yesterday a check by the Federal Bureau of Investigation indicated the bullets that wounded former GOP City Chairman William F. Meade were fired from inside the Hotel Minerva here.

Meade, who is in Jefferson hospital with a bullet lodged in his jaw, has insisted he was wounded by unknown persons firing from outside the hotel.

Dilworth at the same time said "information received" indicated that the 47-year-old former city Republican leader was shot by his blonde companion, Virginia Carroll, as he sat in the hotel lobby.

Both Meade and the 38-year-old Miss Carroll, a city employee, denied this.

After the shooting last Sunday, Dilworth sent fragments from the shattered hotel window along with a piece of wood paneling to the FBI in Washington. His statement yesterday was made, he said, after conferring with two Philadelphia detectives, who went to Washington to receive the FBI report.

Dilworth said that fragments of the shattered window were found behind the hotel—and that these were pieced together to form almost a complete pane.

The district attorney said detectives were able to determine which side of the glass was on the outside by putty marks.

In another statement Monday, Dilworth said "on information I have received, Meade was shot by Miss Virginia Carroll, from inside the lobby."

The tall comely blonde insisted that she, Meade and several other persons were just preparing to sing some songs in the lobby when the shots rang out—from outside the building, Meade said he was merely cut by flying glass, but X-rays showed that a bullet had fractured his jaw and was still lodged in the right side of his face.

Peter Kattner, of Hazleton, Pa., a roomer at the Minerva hotel, and Thomas (Scotty) McGregor, night clerk at the hotel, were held in $1,500 bail each for a further hearing next Monday as material witnesses in the incident. No other arrests have been made.

In a statement last night, Dilworth said he doesn't have enough evidence right now "to convict anybody" in the shooting of Meade. The district attorney said that if Meade sticks to his denial that Miss Carroll shot him "we couldn't convict or even indict her."

"If we had the gun," Dilworth said, "that would supply another link in the chain but the gun has disappeared."

Ousted Wafdist
Leaders Arrested

Cairo, Egypt (AP)—Two key members of the recently ousted Wafdist party Cabinet were arrested yesterday and spirited out of town.

Political circles termed the arrests "the first major blow" by independent Premier Ahmed Naguib Hilali against the powerful nationalist party which ruled Egypt for two years.

Independent Truckers Strike Against Weight Limits; May Try To Enlist All Drivers

Somerset, (AP)—Independent truck owner-operators went on strike yesterday against Pennsylvania's 45,000-pound gross weight limit for trucks.

A spokesman declared 3,000 to 4,000 big trucks have been pulled off the highways.

Laird Bruner, business agent for the United Truckers association, which has set up strike headquarters here, declared the drivers cannot earn a living "or even break even" under present conditions.

Bruner said he understands the individual drivers are aiming at getting all trucks off Pennsylvania highways by midnight tonight. He declared it is not an organized move, adding:

"Each driver is just parking his truck and contacting another driver to get him to do the same. The action is spreading fast, but it's all voluntary."

Bruner said the drivers are simply putting their trucks in the garages or parking them in back yards and will keep them there until some relief is given.

"You won't see them parked along the highways or blocking the roads anywhere," said Bruner. "It's not that kind of a proposition. We're just quitting. Many operators who own more than one truck have been forced to sell some of their equipment to keep going. We can't afford to keep operating at that cost."

Bruner has called a meeting of the truckers for this afternoon at the armory in Somerset at which time the plan of the campaign will be mapped out.

"We're not striking against the motor freight companies for whom the independent truckers do their hauling," said Bruner. "They're powerless to help us. We're striking in protest against a bad law—the one which limits gross truck loads to 45,000 pounds."

"Our legislature passed a bill permitting loads up to 60,000 pounds to move over our highways. That bill would permit us to operate our trucks and make a living. Governor Fine vetoed that bill at 5 minutes till 12 on the last possible day."

Most major freighting companies said they know of the strike and that it is affecting them. Most of them declined to say how much.

Betty Hutton Elopes

Hollywood (AP)—Betty Hutton eloped to Las Vegas, Nev., with a movie director yesterday, surprising her studio and friends. The blonde actress and Charles O'Curran were married in a wedding chapel by Judge Frank McNamee and returned here after the ceremony.

Communists correspondents at Panmunjon—sometimes the unofficial mouthpieces of the Red truce team—talked of an armistice agreement in three to four weeks.

Washington (AP)—Sen. William Benton (D-Conn.) yesterday offered to waive immunity so his old foe Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) could sue him for accusations made in sworn testimony on Capitol Hill.

Benton made the offer on the Senate floor. McCarthy promptly wrote Benton a letter, proposing that their attorneys meet and "draft the documents necessary for your signature in order legally to waive your immunity."

Meet Your Neighbors

—By Horace G. Heller

Washington (AP)—The Senate Judiciary committee yesterday refused to give Newbold Morris power to subpoena witnesses and documents in his hunt for corruption in government. Instead they approved a plan to set up an independent investigation.

Swiftly following on these developments:

One—House investigators voted to ask President Truman to give them the income tax returns of Attorney General McGrath and 19 senior officials of the Justice department.

Two—McGrath was invited to appear in person March 26 at an open hearing of the House Judiciary subcommittee investigating his administration of the Justice department.

Three—Morris announced that he had requested McGrath and 595 top officials of the Justice department for detailed information about the financial affairs of themselves and their immediate families.

Four—Joseph D. Numan Jr., former commissioner of Internal revenue, was closeted with House tax scandal investigators in a closely-guarded secret session yesterday. Numan, who headed the bureau from 1944 to 1947, has come under the fire of Senator Williams (R-Del.) for his subsequent legal efforts in behalf of clients in tax trouble with the Federal government.

Morris, President Truman's No. 1 cleanup man, made it plain to reporters a month ago that the subpoena power was the basic tool in his investigation and said he would have to have it "to accomplish the mission."

When a reporter asked him late yesterday whether he could function effectively without it, Morris said it would be of great value. Then he added:

"It's like trying to ski with one hand behind your back. You have better balance with both hands."

Morris disclosed his plans to interrogate the top echelon of the Justice department at a news conference.

Missing G. I. Now Listed As Killed

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smiley, 66½ South Kistler St., East Stroudsburg this week received word from the U. S. Army that their son, Kenneth, had been killed in action in Korea.

Pfc. Kenneth M. Smiley was first reported "missing in action" on July 30, 1950—seven days after he reached the front line in Korea.

He was a student of East Stroudsburg High school and had been employed by Hughes Printing Co. prior to his second enlistment in the Army. He first entered service on April 18, 1946 at the age of 17.

After returning home, he worked for some months at the printing company and then re-enlisted early in 1950.

Mr. Smiley first received word from the Army that his son had been listed as "missing" on July 30, 1950. The telegram which arrived this week at the Smiley home was the first additional word the family had received.

Optimism
Develops

Munsan, Korea, Wednesday (AP)—Armistice negotiators wrangled yesterday over Korean ports of entry amid unaccountable undercurrents of restrained optimism. Major issues still were unsettled.

No apparent progress was made in yesterday's staff officer meetings on the separate questions of prisoner supervision and exchange of prisoners.

The Allies and Communists were at odds over the specific designation of three of 10 ports of entry to be open for neutral inspection and the area to be embraced by each port. But Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, United Nations command spokesman, said it did not present "a major problem."

The restrained optimism developing in the Allied armistice camp apparently arose in part from tentative agreements reached on the secondary—but important—issues of truce supervision.

Judge Declines
To Order Shots
For Fox Bites

Norristown (AP)—A judge refused to step into a medical controversy yesterday and declined to order anti-rabies injections for a nine-year-old girl bitten by a gray fox that may have been rabid.

Montgomery County Judge E. Arnold Forrest, faced with conflicting medical evidence, disregarded the question of whether parents of little Gwendolyn Holmes should permit their child to take the injections. But the judge told the parents that if he were in their position he would not hesitate to go ahead with the treatment.

Gwendolyn was taken from the fifth grade of the Barron Hill Consolidated school Monday as a neglected child. County health authorities said the youngster and her mother were bitten by a fox near their Whitmarsh township home last Tuesday.

The authorities said the parents refused to allow anti-rabies shots to be administered and quoted the mother as saying she "didn't believe in needles." The mother and child were treated at Chestnut Hill hospital.

Confer On Jobs

Washington, (AP)—Affected Congress members met yesterday with top officials of government, seeking ways to reduce unemployment in the clothing and textile industries of the North.

Asked whether the action yesterday meant that the White House bill is "dead" in his committee.

"Yes, although not officially interred," McCarran said.

He explained that no specific vote was taken at an executive session of the committee yesterday, but that members showed they were almost unanimously against the plan and took up his alternate proposal instead.

A House Judiciary subcommittee on Feb. 19 sharply rejected the President's request that Morris be vested with power to grant immunity from prosecution to witnesses called in his investigation. It did not pass on the question of subpoena power at that time.

The full House and Senate still have to vote on the bill.

Meet With Board

Washington, (AP)—Chiefs of three big rail operating unions met yesterday with the National (Railway) Mediation board, which is seeking to end a three-year dispute over wages and work rules.

St. John's Pastor Lists Lenten Topic

The mid-week Lenten services which are being conducted in St. John's Lutheran church will continue tonight at 7:30 when the pastor, Rev. Dr. P. N. Wohlsen presents a series of sermons on the general theme "The Cross of Christ". He will speak on "The Prospect of the Cross" and will read the fourth portion of the Passion History recorded by the Four Evangelists.

The congregation will also unite in the penitential Litany prayers at this service and appropriate Lenten hymns will be sung by the senior choir of St. John's under the direction of Robert H. Cathcart, organist and choirmaster. This group will meet immediately after the service for rehearsal.

The following men will serve as ushers at the service tonight: Edward Wagner, Joseph W. Barnes Jr., Russell W. Kern and Edwin F. Buck. Norman Wangman Jr. will serve as acolyte.

Officers of the Altar Guild announce that the monthly business meeting will be held immediately after the service in the primary department room of the Church school.

Slate Belt Cancer Unit Plans Drive

Bangor—James F. Pritchard and Miss Evelyn Yeisley have been named community chairmen for Bangor and Pen Argyl, respectively, in the 1952 fund campaign of the Northampton County unit, American Cancer society, it was announced yesterday by James B. McGiffert, of Easton, county chairman.

No specific goals were set for the Slate Belt boroughs. With four other Northampton County communities—Nazareth, Bath, Northampton, and Hellertown—they will be asked to raise $8,600. The rest of the county quota of $30,000 is expected to come from Bethlehem, with a goal of $12,500, and Easton, with $8,900.

Mr. Pritchard, who lives at 222 3 Third St., Bangor, is an attorney associated with J. Lawrence Davis. Under his direction the cancer drive netted $2,411 in the Bangor area last year. A graduate of Bangor High school, Williams College, and Rutgers University Law school, he was admitted to the bar in March, 1950. He served in Europe during World War Two.

Miss Yeisley's home is at 11 S. Robinson Ave., Pen Argyl. She is a buyer and decorator for the Lloyd Yeisley department store.

The cancer drive is scheduled for the month of April. Other community chairmen in the county are Gladstone P. Lillcragg, Easton; Dr. Harold P. Thomas, Bethlehem; Charles P. Schuerz, Nazareth; Chief Burgess Asher S. Kichline, Hellertown; Mrs. Forrest W. Hunt, Northampton, and Clark P. Smith, Bath.

Bloodmobile Will Return To Barrett

Cresco—The bloodmobile is slated to pay a return visit to Barrett Township Consolidated school between 1 and 6:45 p.m. Wednesday, March 26.

All volunteers or donors are requested to call Cresco 3371, 5651 or any member of the American Legion or auxiliary, the sponsoring organizations.

There will be a doctor in attendance at all times during the visit of the unit. All prospective donors will be given an examination prior to their donation.

Donors are limited to persons between the ages of 18 and 59 inclusive. Persons between the ages of 18 and 21 must have their parents' written permission.

Officials who are sponsoring the drive point out that there is "absolutely no pain" since an anesthetic is applied to the arm before the blood is taken.

The local visit is a part of a nationwide drive to collect more blood. According to Defense department officials 98 per cent of all wounded cases are saved today by the immediate availability of blood and blood plasma. 30 per cent of all donations received go directly to Korea.

There will be a special meeting at the Legion Home Friday night, March 21 at 8 p.m. Pledge cards will be collected at that time. The Legion will provide transportation for those who wish to visit the bloodmobile and do not have their own cars.

Dogs and Burglars

Experience is always coming along and knocking the wind out of some of our dearest theories.

Such as the one about the dog being man's best friend. Certainly, Laverne V. Redfield's terrier wasn't his best friend.

The Redfield pet, it will be recalled, munched happily on a ham bone while burglars took his master for $2,500,000 in his Reno, Nev., home.

In other words, this terrier was enticed away from protecting his master's property by a mere bone upon which, we are reliably informed, there was very little meat.

How fickle can a dog be? And this one, no doubt, was living like a king canine, but was so ungrateful as to be lured from his duty by a mere bone.

On second thought, maybe the terrier wasn't a complete ingrate and disgrace to dogdom. Maybe he realized that a bone, even with skimpy meat clinging to it, is a treasure in these days of inflated dollars—even two and a half million of them.

And No Blarney

A Scottish nationalist leader has threatened to make another attempt to "liberate" the ancient Stone of Scone from its resting place under the coronation chair in Westminster Abbey.

However, the English appear to have the situation well in hand. Scotland Yard has assigned two detectives from its "special branch" to reinforce the guard maintained over the famous stone since its recovery after it was stolen last year.

That is about the same as landing the Marines or putting a Texas Ranger on the job when a riot threatens. Thus the Stone of Scone, which is symbolic of the union of England, and Scotland under the British crown, may be expected to be right there under the chair when the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II takes place next year.

But if someone really wants to start something, why not take a grab for that even more famous piece of rock at Blarney Castle, near the City of Cork, in Ireland? In the words of Francis Sylvester Mahoney:

"There is a stone there, that whoever kisses, oh! He never misses to grow eloquent."

"Tis he may clamber to a lady's chamber or become a member of Parliament."

We'll wager the Irish wouldn't need the help of Scotland Yard to hold onto that stone.

The Smear Fades

A few months ago, the Reds and their camp followers had a field day when two Chinese military men, Lieut. Gen. P. T. Mow and Col. V. S. Hsiang, loosed a virulent attack upon Chiang Kai-shek and the Chinese Nationalist government.

Now an untold side of the story is coming out.

A United States district court has rendered a $7-million default judgment against General Mow for failure to account for Chinese government funds entrusted to him. General Mow wasn't in court. He was last reported in Mexico. Thus, he seems to have taken it on the lam.

Colonel Hsiang, his aide, wasn't named in the suit. But his wife and children, who had been living on the West Coast until recently, have turned up in Red China—of all places!

Apparently, the Daily Worker and its journalistic colleagues will have to dig up some new witnesses for their next smear job.

These Days - - By George E. Sokolsky

Socialism and Power

The British Socialists, when they were in power, nationalized about 20 percent of the British economy. They did it openly and candidly; they told the British people with forthright honesty what they were doing and why. They called themselves Socialists and made no bones about it. For six years, the British people accepted Socialism and then by a narrow margin, they turned out the Socialists and put in the Conservatives under Winston Churchill.

In this country, we have for almost 20 years been engaged in one form or another of socialization. We have called it the "New Deal," the "Fair Deal," and even "Private Enterprise." The theory has been that it is possible to sell the American people anything, as long as it is gaily packaged.

One of the services that has, in a measure, been socialized, is electric power. No statement was made that socialization was intended; such slogans as "TVA" or "Flood Control," or "Rural Electrification" were employed. In this article, I am not going to discuss the virtues of the effort but the methods of accomplishment.

The assumption of the British Socialists has been that the British people are sufficiently mature to understand a program; the assumption of the American socializers has been that the American people, being politically immature, preferring circuses to ideas, need to be fooled into doing what is good for them.

The "Flood Control Act of 1944," which is a socializing measure, we are now told, requires that municipalities, other public authorities, and cooperatives created under Rural Electrification Acts, be given preference in the distribution of public-owned power facilities. However, we are not being told that what is meant by "public power" are those facilities built by army engineers as incidental to reservoir projects for flood control purposes.

Even the TVA was created to regulate the stream flow primarily for the purpose of promoting navigation and controlling floods. The production of electric power was to be incidental. Actually TVA is a socialized power project, competing with and tending to absorb privately-owned power. In the great debate on this subject, in which Wendell Willkie defended private power, the government denied the socializing character of TVA.

The question that arises here is the confidence of government in the people. If the government frankly admitted what it intended to do, the people might have supported the position of the government. But our politicians were taking no risks of that kind. They packaged their socialistic intentions in the beautiful colors of preserving private enterprise from the ravages of revolution.

They shifted the costs from the erection of government-owned power to such items as flood control, navigation, etc. The comparative costs between privately-owned and government-owned power projects are falsified by not including interest charges or the equivalent of Federal, State and local taxes which the private company has to pay and the government project does not have to pay. The Treasury of the United States, and therefore the taxpayer, absorbs losses, if any, in the government project.

Maybe the people want it that way, but it was never explained to the people that this was a movement in the direction of socializing a great industry and putting the cost of its operation on the taxpayer. At the present time, such an effort at socialization is being made with power developed on the Niagara River, where private enterprise has been operating for 50 years.

For 30 years, the privately-owned hydroelectric companies on the Niagara River have sought to expand their facilities but were inhibited by our treaties with Canada concerning water diversion. Now that that has been arranged, the Federal government has seized upon the plans of these private companies and proposes to socialize them — but without the packaging of flood control, irrigation, navigation, etc. This is a straight out-and-out plan for socialization.

Here is an instance concerning which the people can make a decision. Do they want socialization or not? Do they desire a duplicate government operation which can, by the elimination of tax factors, put privately-owned operations on a non-competitive basis, thus destroying the property values of an existing system of power provision? And, of course, the cost of the effort would have to be loaded on the taxpayer.

I have simplified the issue by eliminating the double-talk of the socializers.

Try And Stop Me

—by Bennet Cerf

When Harnett Kane repaired to a small village in Louisiana to complete his new novel, he asked the hotel proprietor, "What will the rate for your best room be if I stay a whole month?" "Ten dollars a week," said the proprietor, "unless you'll be wanting us all to talk dialect. That'd be five dollars a week extra."

Lady in Wichita surprised her sister at the window of her home the other day, peering intently through a pair of opera glasses. "Don't bother me now, Lucy," she ordered. "I'm watching Burns and Allen." She was, too—on the television screen of her neighbor across the street.

Washington Report

—by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Washington

The national Federation of Federal employees has bestowed considerable attention upon me for having risen in protest against the fiction that working for the federal government is a short cut to starvation.

The NFFE is only one source of mail on the subject. It appears that almost all retired federal employees alive today sent along their views. None, however, were as profuse or demanding as the NFFE.

The NFFE is somewhere between a union and a club which solicits the membership of government employees and frequently directs pressure on the Civil Service Commission on behalf of government workers. From what I can determine it is an admirable organization.

I laid to rest on the broad back of Wayne Coy, former head of the Federal Communications Commission, the phony exchange communication that always takes place between President Truman and departing bureaucrats. Both Mr. Truman and Coy took note of the allegedly starvation wages paid federal employees when Coy resigned to accept a $450,000 slice of a radio station purchased by Time magazine. Coy opined that he was practically in rags for having lived off us taxpayers for the past 10 years, and Mr. Truman assured him that poverty is truly the lot of those who employ to spend our tax money.

Neither the President nor Coy have ever had it so good—at least, not until Coy quit. Coy was paid $15,000 a year while running the FCC. And Time magazine, now building a radio empire so publisher Henry Luce can let us in on his latest brain waves, isn't handing Coy a $450,000 gift because he is reduced to rags. Coy is getting his payoff for what he learned while working for us taxpayers. And if you pro-rate that $450,000 over the 10 years he worked for us, the yearly take would figure to $60,000 instead of $15,000.

I have no quarrel with the more than 2,000,000 government employees. If they do the job they are paid to do, fine and dandy. My beef is with the bureaucrats who while wandering to greener pastures, complain that they were able to stay on the government payroll only through sheer grit, since their paychecks barely covered food, shelter and clothing.

The NFFE doesn't argue with me, either. It quibbles, first by ignoring the issue of those fat but down-trodden bureaucrats who depart from Washington in rags. Then it challenges my statement that government workers get 26 days annual leave by stating that the first year only 13 days leave is granted, then 20 then 26. I'll accept the 13 day vacation figure and still say that, keeping in mind that this is working days, it is higher than the average vacation granted to wage earners of all classes in the U.S.A.—particularly first-year employees.

The NFFE also doubted that government bureaucrats load the payroll of their units with standby employees in order to build up the importance of their units themselves. This was bad timing, for on the day of the NFFE protest a Senate committee not only made a similar statement but came up with figures to prove it, along with the confessions of some of the bureaucrats involved.

One new element was introduced into the argument by the NFFE that I know nothing about. It is a shocker. It costs us taxpayers $600,000,000 annually to pay for personnel turnover. Now, either the government's hiring practices are atrocious or the jobs are so senseless that 36 percent of those hired can't stand gaff. You can't blame the $600,000,000 on poor salaries and working conditions, because both are good and the NFFE knows it.

If you really want to feel sorry for someone try worrying about the salaries paid school teachers in the nation. They consider government salaries gigantic, which accounts for so many of them being in Washington instead of in schoolhouses.

I'm for good salaries for the G-girls and boys, but please, don't interrupt me when I rise to remark that I've yet to see one starving. The NFFE gets along on money received from federal employees, who can't be starving or they'd be buying apples instead of paying dues with their spare change. Let's bury that adage along with Coy's last government paycheck.

We picture them as having a wonderful time with that money. We can see them living in luxurious apartments or swanky hotels, with beautiful women around them, and with all the luxuries that money can buy.

Well, it isn't so.

Take that fellow Willie "The Actor" Sutton.

He was considered one of the most "successful" burglars in the country.

All other burglars admired and looked up to him.

But, for all his ingenuity, Sutton spent twenty of the last twenty-six years in prison, and most of the other time in hiding. They finally arrested him and found that he lived in a $6-a-film about him now being made the girl is June Robbins, daughter of Mary Lou . . . Theater Arts mag has the sassiest feature. week room in a cheap Brooklyn neighborhood.

Now Willie has gotten morals and religion. Maybe it's real, maybe it's only to get a lighter prison sentence. He wants to give money that magazines have offered him for the story of his life to some worthy cause—particularly something that will help youngsters to go straight.

In his room they found copies of "Peace of Soul" and "The Basic Writings of Sigmund Freud."

He was very polite to the cops who arrested him. He thanked the jail warden after hearing the standard lecture on prison rules.

All very lovely. But we must remember that he is called Willie "The Actor."

Then there is John R. Bayless, whom they nabbed after he stepped off a plane at La Guardia Field, fresh from a Hollywood bank holdup.

He is an alumnus of Alcatraz Prison, where he served thirteen years for a previous holdup.

He also has spent most of his time in prisons.

But Willie Sutton got religion. Bayless only got an appetite.

It may have been because he was a cook and a baker at Alcatraz. At any rate, in his belongings the police found a 200-page loose leaf book, neatly typed, which contained all kinds of recipes. There were recipes for jelly rolls, lady fingers, upsidedown cake, salads, sauces and gum drops.

It is rumored, but I cannot verify the rumor that some magazine has offered him a very large amount of money for his cook book.

Well, here you have two top-flight criminals.

What have they gotten out of their careers?

Regardless of all those years in prison, there is one thing I wouldn't exchange for all the money in the world—peace of mind.

To live in constant fear is, to my mind, the equivalent of spending one's life in hell.

Hollywood —by Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—"Young Man With Ideas" is an agreeable comedy in which Glenn Ford plays a lovable plodder whose trouble is shyness and a too-good heart.

Unappreciated member of a Montana law firm, he prepares briefs and arguments that win cases in court for his showier colleagues. Burned at this lack of recognition, his wife (Ruth Roman) gets drunk at a cocktail party and politely tells off his bosses. Presently Glenn, Ruth and their three small children are heading for a new life in Los Angeles.

They rent a former bookie office where the phones still ring with bets on horses. Ruth, exasperated, finally accepts a $20 bet to shut up a caller. When the longshot pays off, legal-minded Ford fears he owes the unidentified bettor $800.

Glenn, meanwhile, has enrolled in a brush-up law course. A predatory and beautiful fellow student, Nina Foch, gets him to study with her nights. Glenn manages, with some difficulty, to keep it platonic.

He takes a job in a bill-collecting office where Nina works. When he tries to collect from shapely Denise Darcel, for a fur wrap, he winds up contributing $12 himself to the bill.

A furious night-club brawl between Glenn and a gambling king brings matters to a head. In court, acting as his own attorney, he finds out whether he has what it takes to sway a jury.

Lively dialogue and action make an improbable and devious plot palatable, and Ford plays his

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

Over There The Presidency may go to a man who not only keeps his shirt on but keeps his HAT ON. The strong man of the moment seems to be Ike Eisenhower, the one candidate who won't throw his headgear into a ring. It could be that his biggest advantage lies in the fact he is not in a lather over a chance to get into the White House. The sight of a leader on the top levels taking calmly a prospect of the Presidency, and refusing to get hysterical over the biggest job the country has to offer, is such a novelty that it can be a positive asset.

It has not been often in American history that the voters have gandered a fellow who can hear "You have a chance to be President" without having his head spin, his eyes pop and his feet burn. Most men get more excited over a mention for county dog warden than Ike gets over an opportunity to rule the nation. In an era noted for go-getters, jackpot seekers and political bingo addicts, a fellow who can let events take their course, run no fever and show no leap in blood pressure is something of a standout.

Any man should be proud and thrilled by a chance to run for the Presidency, of course, and we are not criticizing any other candidate. All we say is that Ike's different routine is distinctive and makes him an unusual aspirant. It is many years since the American people saw anybody heading for the White House without trying to set new records for speed, determination and "hours in the air without refueling." We have had the Silent Man, the Wonder Man, the Indispensable Man, the What-Would-You-Do-Without-Me Man, the Strong Man, the Weak Man and the Truman, but General shy-stumblebum part with finesse. The three ladies are highly decorative.

"Talk About a Stranger" is a strange little number about a boy and his dog and a suspicious man next door. It takes too long to establish that the boy (Billy Gray) deeply loves the stray pooch that has come to live on an orange ranch with him and his parents (George Murphy and Nancy Davis).

Rep. Walter Critical Of Mr. Truman

Washington (AP) — Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.), now serving his 20th year in Congress yesterday criticized President Truman's stand that a 12-year limit should be placed on congressional service.

Walter, Easton, Pa., resident, said the President's attitude as set forth in William Hillman's book "Mr. President" is all wrong.

"The electorate has an opportunity every two years to review the work of the representatives," he said. "If a member achieves a position of great value to his constituents, I don't think they should arbitrarily be deprived of his services."

Walter said he thinks he can do a lot more for the people he represents now than he could when he first entered Congress.

"I can pick up a phone and call people by their first names," he said.

Senate Told HST Didn't Fear Russia

Washington (AP)—Senator Capehart (R-Ind.) told the Senate yesterday that President Truman said in 1945—before the Potsdam conference—that he was "more afraid of England and France than he was of Russia."

Capehart told his colleagues that former Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, Montana Democrat, advised Truman after a tour of Europe by four senators that "Mr. President, you had better stand up to Russia."

Capehart, one of the four, said "The President replied that he was more afraid of England and France than he was of Russia."

"Senator Wheeler then said to him, 'Mr. President, you are too optimistic about Russia.' The President shook his head vigorously and said, 'No, I'm not.'"

Capehart's statement was made in commenting on a passage in a new book, "Mr. President," which says Truman noted in his diary that he was not impressed by the views of four senators who had reported to him on a European survey.

The President was represented as saying that Europe had been through so many ups and downs that "I am not impressed with the cursory glances of oratorical members of the famous 'Cave of the Winds' on Capitol Hill."

New Bait Used In Fight On Rabid Foxes

Harrisburg (AP) — The State Game commission said yesterday it has almost entirely switched from the use of poisoned crow to other baits in its attempt to wipe out rabid foxes in Pennsylvania.

The new bait which has proven more effective, includes tallow and other fat products, the commission said. Strychnine, however, still remains as the poison used on the bait.

At the same time, the commission renewed a warning to owners of dogs to keep their pets on leash and not to let them run free.

Some dogs, and not all strays, have been poisoned despite earlier warnings, the commission said.

Meanwhile game protectors are going forward in their planned, intensive campaign to wipe out the rabies-infected foxes in northeastern and southeastern Pennsylvania.

In the southeast, the circle is closing, with game protectors ready to start treating Montgomery county today.

Steady progress was reported in the northeastern rabies area also, where snows and timbered mountain land have made the going difficult.

In the west, crews will move into southern Butler county on Monday. An early appraisal has shown the work in Venango county successful so far.

The Game commission cited the fact that the State Agriculture department and State Health department also are cooperating in the campaign. In addition the services of Federal agencies have been utilized to arrive at the safest and most scientific approach to the problem, the commission said.

U.N. Locked Out Of East Germany

Bonn, Germany (AP)—The United Nations commission to investigate conditions for holding all-German elections arrived here this week and said it still is locked out of Communist-ruled East Germany.

"We are awaiting an official answer from the East German authorities to our request to investigate there the possibility of holding free elections," Kristian Albertson of Iceland, the commission's chairman, said.

"So far we know only from the speeches of the East German government leaders that we are barred."

The West German government and Western Berlin have welcomed the investigation, Albertson said.

At the women's luncheon Mrs. Gilford Mayes, assistant chairman of Republican National Committee, and Mrs. India Edwards, vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, will speak on "Responsibility in the Present Tense."

One of the highlights of the conference will be the Congressional dinners held by state and area delegates for members of both houses of Congress representing them in Washington.

To take care of the ever-increasing attendance at the annual meetings, the Chamber has arranged to hold the first general session at Constitution Hall.

Auditors May Finish Work This Month

County auditors expect to wind up the county audit in final form by the end of March. Auditors Mahlon Besecker, chairman, Mary Emma Garcia and John Wernett, said if the end-of-the-month date is met, auditors will have completed their task in near record time.

Because of new county officers manning their posts at the beginning of the year, the auditing was not started until January 8, Besecker said.

Daylight Found Me Completely Worn Out

Mr. Page Garland, Fire Captain of Hampton, New Hampshire writes—My duties as Fire Captain are performed at all hours of the day and night, and are a terrific tax on my system. I had no appetite, started to lose weight and sleep was next to impossible. My nerves were just plain ragged.

I was told that I had a vitamin and mineral deficiency. I tried many things without success until a druggist friend suggested VAYLO. I had read about B₁₂ in Reader's Digest, so started VAYLO and within a short time I felt like my old self. Even the boys at the Fire House noticed the improvement in my condition.

VAYLO has worked wonders for men and I would not be without it for the world. I want to tell everyone about it.

It certainly is the one formula that lives up to all it claims. Get the Genuine VAYLO at KRESGE DRUG STORE 17 Crystal St. Phone 674

HELP YOUR COUNTY COMMISSIONERS SELECT THE RIGHT VOTING MACHINE

FOR USE IN MONROE COUNTY!

Competing makes of voting machines have been put on demonstration at the Monroe County Court House. The County Commissioners have invited the people to examine and operate these voting machines and indicate which machine they prefer.

Here Are Some Facts You Should Know:

- ★ The Automatic Voting Machine (Machine No. 2) has been offered to the County at a price considerably less than that of the competitive machine.
- ★ The Automatic Voting Machine Corporation, suppliers of Machine No. 2, have built and installed 47,000 Voting Machines over the past 54 years.
- ★ We have installed nearly 5,000 Voting Machines in 333 Pennsylvania communities since 1930.
- ★ Our Voting Machines have been used in Barrett Township for 15 years without upkeep expense.
- ★ If the County Commissioners provide another type of voting machine in other voting districts there will be a duplication of printing expense for the two different voting machine types at each election . . . and a duplication of the instructions necessary for preparing the voting machines for election.
- ★ There is no punching machine necessary for the preparation of ballot labels for our voting machine.
- ★ The all-important counters of the Automatic Voting Machine are in a separate compartment in the back of the machine.
- ★ The horizontal ballot presents all offices on an equal visual basis. We pioneered the vertical machine with front-reading counters, but discarded it in favor of the more practical horizontal type.
- ★ The Automatic Voting Machine now on demonstration at the Court House is the product of 54 years experience in building nothing but voting machines . . . and they are all built right in our own factory!

You are urged to examine the Automatic Voting Machine, used by over 50% of Pennsylvania voters, at the Court House this week . . . and

Girl Played Role Of Matador In Pike County Bull Fight -- Only Formal One Held In State

Harrisburg — Henry W. Shoemaker, president of the Pennsylvania Folklore society, State Museum, yesterday said a bull fight with a girl matador was staged in Pike county in colonial times.

The matador was Aldonza Gonsaulus (Gonzales), only daughter of the old Lutheran Duke Abraham Gonsaulus, who fled with his family to America when the Spanish Inquisition confiscated his estates and exiled him, Shoemaker said.

Settling at Esopus, in Ulster county, New York, they found a settlement of Spaniards, Jews, Dutch, Germans and Huguenots. Eventually these settlers began to drift across the Delaware River into northeastern Pennsylvania in the area now comprising Pike, Susquehanna and Wayne counties.

"In Ulster county," Shoemaker said, "the old Duke soon became a power. For years his family in Spain had been breeders of fine bulls, big, black, long-horned Petrillos. Eventually he had some of these bull calves shipped to him in America.

"These bulls accompanied the family on its trek into Pennsylvania and the Duke formulated a plan to stage a bull fight in their new home to please the Indians and their new neighbors. His son, Manuel, was his most skilled Matador but one of the bulls tossed Manuel from his horse and broke his leg.

"The Duke did not want to delay his Spanish fiesta and bull fight the number of weeks required for Manuel's leg to heal as that would bring the date into bad weather.

"Then Aldonza, who despite her femininity was the second best matador in the family, persuaded her father to allow her to perform instead of one of her brothers.

"Attired in red velvet, with a red beret and mounted on a Spanish charger, Aldonza rode into the ring followed by her brothers who were clad in blue and gold costumes with broad-brimmed hats.

"Only one of the bulls was to be killed, the vicious beast which had upset Manuel and broken his leg. The brass knobs were removed from the tips of his horns and he was led into the ring.

"At the blowing of the horn Aldonza dismounted, her horse was led away and she engaged the bull finally dispatching him with a fatal stab from her espada. The Duke arose and donated the carcass to the Indians.

"The Indian braves carried Aldonza around the ring on their shoulders amid wild cheers from the audience and the Indian squaws fought with each other in an effort to obtain bits of her colorful regalia as a souvenir.

"The squaws were so successful that Aldonza was almost disrobed before her brothers could reach her and place a cloak around her.

"It was a most successful entertainment and had the desired effect of establishing the popularity of the Duke with the Indians and his new neighbors. The fiesta was concluded with a barbecue of the slain animal and an Indian dance.

"So far as is known in Pennsylvania folklore and history, this is the only formal bull fight on Pennsylvania soil."

PISTON RING MADE RADIOACTIVE in Atomic File at Oak Ridge, is carefully installed in test car engine by specially trained oil scientists. Radioactivity is checked with a delicate Geiger counter at all times. Car is then driven in proving ground road tests under weather conditions ranging from summer's heat to sub-zero cold. Engine wear is measured with inboard accuracy by this atomic test. Test results can now be obtained in only 50 miles of driving—older methods took as much as 10,000 miles.

HOW RADIOACTIVITY TEST WORKS: motor oil used in test runs picks up microscopic metal particles worn from radioactive piston ring. Radioactivity of oil sample, measured by a Geiger counter, shows rate of engine wear. (Don't worry—the motor oil run by is not radioactive.) Tests show today's motor oils can triple life of your car engine.

The Daily Record's Home And Building Page

House Style Should Rule Site Choice

The home buyer who is starting from scratch and selecting his lot this spring with the idea of building a home on it later this year or next has some important thinking to do, says the United State Savings and Loan League.

Making up your mind about the kind of house you will want to build on the lot is pretty essential before the choice of the lot is made, the league advises.

"Too many people tend to regard the purchase of a lot as a decision distinct from the buying of a home, when the two are actually closely inter-related and inter-dependent," the league says.

"Step number one, after that, is to check the zoning and deed restrictions for the subdivision in which the lot is located. You will want to know, first, if the type of property you expect to build is legal. Then you will want to be sure that no garages and gas stations are going to spring up on the next corner, and that tall apartment buildings won't be erected to shut out your light and air five or six years from now.

"Too often the family is ready to start building its 'dream house' and finds to its dismay that the lot previously purchased is inadequate or at least wholly undesirable for the kind of house chosen.

The league cautions that the type and size of the lot selected by the home buyers also should take into consideration such factors as a playground for children and the area for landscaping. Says the league:

"Every lot must be expected to serve a variety of purposes. It must not only be the site for the placement of the house, but it should also furnish play and landscaping areas, a drive for the family automobile and sidewalks."

Still another concern of the real estate lot buyer, the league said, is whether the vacant property is served by or is easily accessible to public utilities such as water, gas, telephone service, drainage and electricity.

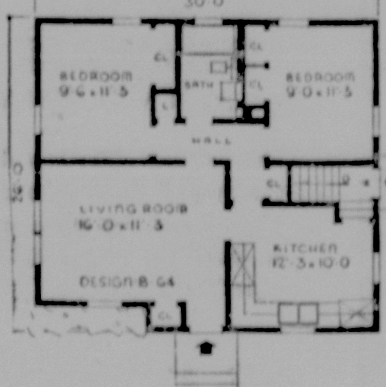

Cedar Closets Must Be Tight

Closets lined with red cedar wood, as they are ordinarily installed, are of doubtful value in protecting clothing from moth attack. Usually the closets are not tightly enough constructed to retain the emanations from the cedar wood in sufficient strength to kill the worms.

"The mere odor of cedar does not keep moths from crawling or flying into a closet or from damaging the clothing or furs. In justice to red cedar wood, it should be stated that closets very tightly constructed with the red heart wood and equipped with doors that close tightly against felt gaskets can be depended upon to protect against moth attack.

Holds Sashes

Hardened paint or dampness may cause a window sash to stick. In the case of excessive moisture, the wood in the sash and its frame swells and this swelling causes the sash to bind. Troubles usually appears when the wood dries. Before any corrective work is undertaken, it is advisable to see whether a thorough coating with beeswax will relieve the friction.

THE BELMONT, although small in area, provides four very comfortable rooms for a small family. All four rooms have cross ventilation and open into one small hall for free circulation between rooms.

There is plenty of wall space in every room of The Belmont for furniture. There is ample space for a breakfast table in the kitchen. Storage space is also plentiful. The bedrooms have closet space. There is a coat closet in the front entrance, also general and linen closets in the hall, making a total of 6 closets.

Cabinets in The Belmont's modern kitchen are efficiently arranged with the sink under the window, the range next to the living room door and the refrigerator at the opposite end of the room.

Exterior walls of The Belmont are frame with siding or shingles. Concrete blocks can be substituted if desired. Asphalt shingles cover the roof.

Overall dimensions of The Belmont are 39 feet by 26 feet with a full basement. The area of The Belmont is 761 square feet with 15,372 cubic feet.

For further information about The Belmont, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.

Had No Choice

The tiny window panes which today are admired for their quaintness in very old houses were not a source of pride or joy to the original owners. They were installed because larger pieces of glass were not available or cost too much to be practical.

Tips For Medicine Cabinets

Size, construction and finish are the important points to check when buying a medicine cabinet for the bathroom, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

The cabinet should be as large as possible. Most home owners realize too late when they move into their new or modernized home that their medicine cabinet has not kept up with other improvements. Like the bathroom itself, says the bureau, no medicine cabinet was ever too large.

Cabinet buyers should also look for such things as: Is it of one piece drawn seamless construction? Are the corners easy to clean? Are there cracks where moisture can settle and cause corrosion? Are the shelves removable for easy cleaning?

The buyer should look for such things as the hinge construction, that is, whether the hinge is a common butt hinge or whether it is a full-length piano type hinge, and whether the hinge is enameled or stainless steel; whether the shelf supports are removable for easy cleaning and whether the shelf supports are stainless steel or plain white enameled, which are stationary, making it difficult to clean the cabinet.

CAS Foster Parents To Be Guests

The board of directors of the Children's Aid society, meeting yesterday in the society's rooms on Sarah St. planned a Foster Parents party for spring, when the parents who have foster children in their home will be the guests of the directors.

In this connection, Mrs. Jean Albert, executive secretary, announced that two new foster homes had been opened during the past month, and that application for a new foster home was being studied.

Mrs. Frank L. Patterson Jr. presided at the meeting with the case committee of which Mrs. Byron Deacon is chairman reporting on plans for the foster parents party.

Mrs. Patterson announced the state advisory board meeting to be held April 18 in Philadelphia with board members invited.

Mrs. T. F. Rhodes reported on a meeting called by the Pennsylvania Citizens committee of the northeast district which she attended. The Governor's committee on children and youth, following up the recent White House conference on children, will hold a public hearing in Allentown on May 23, when interested laymen from the counties in this area will be asked to testify on unmet needs of children in their own communities.

Plans were also discussed for a night meeting on April 15, in order that the men members of the board may join in budget decisions. The annual meeting will be held in May.

Poconos Region Auxiliary Plans April Card Party

Mount Pocono — At a regular meeting of the auxiliary of Poconos Memorial Post 903, of the American Legion, held at the home of Mrs. Olive Davis, Kinney Ave., plans were formulated for a card party to be held in April with the 25th set as a tentative date. Mrs. Eva Taylor will serve as chairman assisted by Misses Ellen Regan and Esther Foley.

Mrs. Jeanette Walker presided during the business meeting when reports of various standing committees were given.

The unit also voted at this time to give $50 as a birthday gift to the local American Legion Post since it recently observed the sixth anniversary of its organization.

Refreshments were served following the meeting by the hostesses, Mrs. Davis.

The April meeting will be held at the home of Miss Ellen Regan, Fairview Ave.

Installation For P.O. Of A.

Camp 289 P.O. of A will meet Thursday night at the Odd Fellows Hall when there will be installation of officers.

Members are asked to wear short white dresses for the ceremony, and to bring sandwiches or cake for the refreshments which will follow.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

You'd think by now that I'd be accustomed to eating in public, and would have learned the proper way to pass things—but last night I ended up with a whole casserole of new spring peas on my lap at the dinner. Very special peas with mushrooms and Mrs. Peterson's private recipe, too.

A little late for St. Patrick's day, but anyway I matched the decorations at most of the parties yesterday.

The unexpected is always happening to people but it's not always so disconcerting. For instance Barbara Risley never dreamed when she put up her curls for the junior prom at the college that they'd be wearing the queen's crown before midnight.

Lucky she wore her pink net, though, and the pink orchid corsage, which is most becoming to a queen.

Meanwhile the subject of clothes is one that has a lot of mothers in a dither these days. It isn't enough that Easter's coming, but the very first formal dance for a lot of very young ladies is due this Saturday at Glen Brook for the winter's dancing classes.

And the younger they are, the more they yearn for strapless gowns with stoles and shoes with heels—both of which take considerable practice to manage.

—Listen To—

Bobby Westbrook daily, Monday through Friday, on "The Party Line" WVPO, 10:05 a.m.

Miss Jean Rake

(McNey Studio)

Jean Rake To Be Bride Of Leigh Terrill

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Rake of East Stroudsburg, RD, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Miss Jean Rake, to Leigh Terrill, son of Dr. and Mrs. T. E. Terrill, of East Stroudsburg.

Miss Rake attended East Stroudsburg High school and is a graduate of Moe. Fenwick's Beauty School, of Scranton.

Mr. Terrill is a graduate of East Stroudsburg High school and is a junior at Pennsylvania State College.

The wedding is planned for April 12, 1952, at 2 p.m. at the Beakleyville Baptist church.

Class To Buy Church Signs For Highway

Bartonville—The Berean class of St. John's Lutheran Sunday school held their March meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Starner, of Snyder'sville. Mrs. Joseph Starner led the group in prayer.

Rev. John Bergstresser conducted the Bible study and spoke on "Sacrifices During Lent." Evil from within man's heart are more defiling than those from without, he said.

During the business meeting, the class decided to purchase and erect church signs on the highway at roads leading to the church. A note of appreciation was read from Mrs. Floyd Cyphers for a gift sent during her illness, and Mrs. Sally Harps was appointed to read the scripture at the April meeting when the hostesses will be Mrs. Samuel Dunbar and Mrs. Margaret Halstead. Refreshments were served, buffet-style, from a table decorated in the St. Patrick's day motif by the hostesses, Mrs. Karlene Muddell and Mrs. Joseph Starner.

Other members present were Rev. John Bergstresser, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Starner, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dunbar, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Marsh, Mrs. Margaret Halstead, Mrs. Archie Ace, Mrs. Clyde Beecher, Mrs. Daisy Alleger, and Mrs. Sally Harps. Guests were Mrs. Greenmoyer and Anita Ace.

Tobyhanna PTA To Buy New Equipment

Pocono Pines — The PTA of Tobyhanna Township met on Thursday, March 13 in the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock with a large attendance.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mr. Timko. The PTA reporter was given by Mrs. Robert Keiper of Blakeslee. The secretary's report was given by Mrs. James Kitchen. Mrs. Allen Waltz gave the treasurer's report. Other committees also gave their reports.

It was decided to buy more equipment for the kitchen for the hot lunch project. After the business meeting Mrs. Lester Dyson had charge of the entertainment for the night. The school band played three selections. The first graders gave a rhythm band selection, "My Wild Irish Rose," and Mary Smith sang "An Irish Lullaby."

Refreshments were sold by the Locust Ridge group in charge of Mrs. Mary Kerrick.

Bernard LeBar Flies To Join Air Force Band

A farewell party in honor of Bernard LeBar who flew to Puerto Rico to serve in the Air Force band was held this past weekend at his home in Bethlehem. Bernard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood LeBar and has played with his father's Western band and in the American Legion drum corps in which he holds the rank of sergeant.

Since the party also marked his birthday, a cake baked by his mother was served as the climax to the dinner. He received many gifts including money.

Bernard's wife and son, Chris, plan to join him in September, if possible in Puerto Rico.

Guests at the party included Mr. and Mrs. Paul Masteller, William Masteller, Donald Masteller, Shirley Platt, Mrs. Frances Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood LeBar and daughter, Roseley and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard LeBar and son, Chris.

Public Health Nursing Calls Are Growing

The number of new cases cared for during the past month by the increasing public awareness of Public Health Nurses show the service being offered, reports given last night at the meeting of the board of directors of the Monroe County Public Health Nursing organization at the General hospital.

Paul Dellaria, president, presided at the well-attended meeting. Mrs. Leltoy J. Koehler gave the report of the nursing committee and announced the names of the members of the committee who will work with her during this coming year: Mrs. Thomas Bennett, vice chairman; Mrs. Roman Batory, secretary; Mrs. Bernice All, Mrs. Sydney Cohen, Mrs. Russell Cramer, Mrs. Estelle Fleming, Mrs. Clifford Heller, Mrs. Dudley King, Mrs. Verna Kohn, Mrs. Ida B. Kunkle, Mrs. Adolph Rake and Mrs. Wendell Wicks.

Mrs. C. Edward DePuy, executive director, reported a total of 211 cases, including 29 new ones, and 10 discharged and a combined mileage of 1,428 miles. Mrs. Edith Beach is now available for duty as a substitute nurse, it was reported.

Mrs. Raymond Michener, chairman of the nominating committee, announced that the members of the standing committee included Mrs. Thomas E. Larkin, Mrs. Jesse Flory, Mrs. Howard DeNike and Mrs. Clifford Heller.

Miss Risley Is Queen Of College Prom

Miss Barbara Risley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Risley, of East Stroudsburg, was chosen queen of the Junior Prom by a board of faculty judges at the party held Saturday night in the college gymnasium. Miss Risley is the eighth queen to be chosen for the annual affair, and the second local student to receive the coveted honor.

Chosen by a faculty group which included Dr. Madelon Powers, Miss Genevieve Zimbar, Miss Katherine MacFarland, George Ockershausen, and Theodore Moore, this year's queen was crowned in elaborate ceremonial by Dr. Joseph Noonan, college president.

Chosen to reign with her was a court of six students, including Anita Winnings, Millie De Peatro, Jane Gockley, Audrey Kohl, Mary Jo Roberts and Marci Kennedy.

Garden Club Program On St. Patrick

The Monroe County Garden club meeting on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 at the YMCA will center around St. Patrick's Day. Two readings will be given. Mrs. Edgar Van Why will read "St. Patrick and the Shamrock" and Mrs. A. H. Mathieson will read "Rules for Garden Hosting".

There will be special music with Mrs. Edgar Powell as soloist and Mrs. Earl Wohlhoite as accompanist.

Because of the illness of the president, Mrs. Robert A. Miller, Mrs. J. Harold Lanternan, first vice president, will preside. Mrs. Elwood Grant, arrangement chairman, announced that the theme of the exhibits would be "March Winds", expressing movement; and St. Patrick's day arrangements composed of all-green material with sansevieria and succulents suggested as material.

Horticulture exhibits will include forced bulbs and other plants. Reservations for the bus trip to the Philadelphia Flower Show on Tuesday, March 25, should be made before the meeting with Mrs. Ray Osborn, 24203.

Hostess chairman for the meeting is Mrs. William Peacock. Those present were: Mrs. Norman Courtwright Sr., Mrs. Elmer Waltz and daughter, Janet, Mrs. Charles Dippie, Mrs. Robert Keiper, Mrs. Fred Berryman, Mrs. Frank Ziman, Mrs. Sherwood Clapper, Mrs. Robert Smith, Mrs. Roy Spitzer, Mrs. Elmer Chambers, Mrs. James Smith, Mrs. Elwood Norris, Mrs. Guy Smith, Mrs. Bertha Boushelle, Mrs. Carl Boushelle and daughter, Judy, Mrs. George Motts and daughter, Joanne, Miss Harriet Hartman, Miss Janet Snyder, Mary Lou Ace and the guests of honor, Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Courtman and son, Michael Alan.

Hobbies Theme Of Woman's Club Meeting Today

Portland — The Woman's club of Portland will meet this afternoon at 2:30 in the social room of the Baptist church. Mrs. Bert Transue, president, will preside at the business meeting.

The program will be devoted to "Hobbies" and has been arranged by Mrs. Wayne Van Vorst, chairman of the American Home department of the club.

Refreshments will be served with Mrs. Carl Kramer as chairman of the hostess committee.

Choir Boosters Tonight

Swiftwater — The choir boosters of the Swiftwater Methodist church will hold a pre-spring meeting tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the church sanctuary. Monroe Lodge Of Elks Has Dinner Party

The members of Monroe Lodge of Elks No. 513 were entertained on St. Patrick's day at a ham dinner served at the Elks home, North Third St., Stroudsburg by the members of their auxiliary, Rose of Sharon Temple, No. 357.

The tables were arranged in banquet style with shades of green in homage to St. Patrick's day.

After dinner, with Richard P. Beville as master of ceremonies, the program took a serious turn as the members joined in a discussion of important matters of the day. Both the auxiliary and the lodge went on record to support all civic endeavors in the community. The theme of the discussion was "You cannot live in this world by yourself."

After coffee entertainment in a lighter vein was presented with music and laughter as part of the fare.

Members of Rose of Sharon temple present were Daughter Ruler Francine Cooper; vice daughter ruler, Patricia Weaver; chaplain, Beatrice Henderson; and Shirley Amhurst, Frances LeBue, Roberta Adams, Lillian Mills, Josephine Satterfield, Carrie Posten and Clementine Posten.

Members of the Lodge of Elks, I. O. O. F. of W. were Exalted Ruler Rodgers Ray, Nevel T. Weaver, Howard C. Adams, Richard P. Beville, Clifford Johnson, Ivan B. Adams, Melvin Rivers, Ernest Williams, Raymond Cooper, Alfred Pelham, James Jacobs and James Haines.

Gradale Has Talk On Its History, Aims

Gradale Sorority of the YMCA heard Henry Carichner, secretary for Central-East district, speak on the history and purposes of their sorority at their meeting held Monday night at the Y.

Gradale, now in its 22nd year, was organized by Emory Nelson in Towanda and there are now 40 active chapters in Pennsylvania, he said. The primary function of Gradale is the development of Christian character and personality, he said, together with service, possible as a group. He concluded with two challenges to the members: first, to strive to strengthen the American home; and second, to be alert to world situations.

The business meeting was conducted by the prima, Mrs. Patricia Dean. Mrs. Nancy Quaresimo read the Scripture and Mrs. Dorothy Boushelle gave the closing prayer.

The club planned to visit the county home on April 17 at 8 p.m. when Rev. Ernest T. Campbell will accompany the group and speak to members of the home, and of the sorority. Ice cream and cookies furnished by the sorority, will be served after the program.

Further plans were made for the Leap Year square dance to be held at the Y on April 19 and tickets were placed in the hands of members.

Announcement was made of the state conference in Lebanon on April 19 and 20 with Mrs. Evelyn Berger, state Gradale Tribune, and Mrs. Mary Scheller representing the local sorority.

The spring session of the state young adult council, April 5, in Harrisburg will be attended by Mrs. Berger and Mrs. Frances Lawson.

Three prospective members attended the sorority meeting: Miss Marie Heller, Miss Betty Overfield, and Mrs. Catherine Somers.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Bette Fegley, Mrs. Marie Metzgar, Mrs. Jeanne Heller and Mrs. Betty Melvin.

Class Makes Contributions At Supper Meeting

The Married Couples class of the Stroudsburg Presbyterian church last night voted a contribution to CARE, $25 to Rev. James Lytle, who is in the mission field in New Mexico, and to contribute for the Easter flowers for the church service.

Walter McClelland, president, presided at the business meeting which followed a supper at the church. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Warneke, Mr. and Mrs. Jere Stofflet, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wallace and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kresge were hosts.

The class also planned to hold a supper and square dance at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Merle E. Stevenson in Henryville in June.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

This column is about a coat . . . a coat of black broadcloth, fashioned along loose, straight lines with wide, modified leg o' mutton sleeves. The coat has a collar of black velvet and is trimmed lavishly with wide, ornate black braid. Inside the neckline is a label that says, "Made Expressly for A. B. Wyckoff, Stroudsburg, Pa."

Cora Williams modeled the coat for us yesterday, and in doing so turned back the clock 60 years to the day in 1892 when it was the height of fashion. Its lines are, actually, not a drastic change from those of today, and those who love beauty can appreciate the fact that it was, in its time, a handsome thing. The velvet neckline shows wear . . . but the broadcloth itself is as firm, rich and beautiful as when it was cut and stitched "expressly for" a Wyckoff customer.

Even in those days, Wyckoff's sole aim was to please the men and women who honored the store by spending their money here. And in this competitive era, when money must be spent perhaps more carefully than ever before, it is high tribute indeed to have hundreds of friends who consistently make Wyckoff's their shopping center.

The coat of which we were talking, has been loaned Mrs. Williams to wear during the store's 77th anniversary celebration by Mrs. Thomas Coffman of East Stroudsburg. It belonged to Mrs. Coffman's mother. It seems that the older woman had been ill, and during her convalescence had seen a picture of this particular creation in some fashionable magazine. When she recuperated, she came into Wyckoff's to make her purchase, and was terribly disappointed to find everything in stock, except the one style upon which her heart was set. Seeing how important the coat in the magazine was to her, Wyckoff's offered to procure it . . . and did. And, inside the neckline, was the label which so delighted the customer she kept the coat carefully folded away long after its actual usefulness had passed.

Today, as in days gone by, Wyckoff's is interested in you and your shopping needs. If you need assistance with your problems call upon our department heads or your Wyckoff Shopper. Any information we may not have, can always be obtained and relayed to you . . . and wherever this store can serve you, rest assured that it will. Because this is true, a healthy, progressive organization rounds the corner toward another exciting birthday!

World Church Council Raps Loyalty Oaths

A two-day annual session of the USA Member Churches of the World Council of Churches wound up at 3 p. m. yesterday at Buck Hill Falls Inn.

Nearly 100 theologians and consultants attended.

Throughout the course of the conference national and international problems, financing, refugee and care and rehabilitation, plans for the second WCC assembly in 1954, and problems confronting the church were discussed by members and panels.

The "loyalty oath"—such as that required of public employees in Pennsylvania—came in for its share of denunciation.

O. Frederick Nolde, New York City, director of the Commission of Churches on International Affairs, called for an end to such "loyalty" pledges.

He asked "repudiation of domestic totalitarian procedures by which we seek to combat totalitarian subversive practices."

"We must rid ourselves of scare propaganda, iron curtains and insidious loyalty pledges. Un-American activities must be opposed but . . . by American and not Soviet methods."

Plans for the Second Assembly at Evanston, Ill., in August 1954, were outlined by Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, a president of the WCC.

Four Price Township Properties Assessed At 4% Of Market Value

(This is the ninth in a series of articles based on actual real estate sales in boroughs and townships and the amounts at which those properties were assessed. Figures were taken from official county records.)

By Leonard Randolph

In 1950 when the State Tax Equalization board made out its certification for Monroe county, Price township was the lowest assessed township. At that time Price had an assessed value which was 13.52 per cent of its stated market value.

During 1951 four Price township properties were sold on which assessments were set by the local assessor. These four properties were worth $66,800. They were assessed at only $2,765.

On the basis of these figures, Price township real estate sold during 1951 was assessed at an unbelievably low 4 per cent of its market value. This percentage establishes a definite low for Monroe county during the full year.

Percentage-wise the four Price township properties were assessed at 2 to 13 per cent of their market value—by far the most limited range of assessment percentage within any township during the year.

The lowest-assessed property was sold in May and June. At that time a family bought a Price township "cottage" for $44,300. It was assessed at only $840 or 2 per cent of its market price.

If all Price township properties sold during the year had been assessed at only 2 per cent of their sale price the remaining three cottages would have been assessed at $120, $255 and $300.

This, however, was not the case. The properties were assessed at 5 per cent, 10 per cent and 13 per cent of their individual values.

This curious setup meant that a property which sold for only $8,500 was assessed at $1,070 (13 per cent of value)—$230 more than the $44,300 property.

One of the arguments used during the past two months for the continuing unfairness of assessments and assessment percentages has been the remarkable contention that "prices are inflated."

This is, as almost any housewife or homeowner will readily admit true. It is not, however, the whole truth.

The price of real estate has, admittedly, gone up considerably during the past five years. The value of a property which cost $5,000 to build in 1945 may sell for three to four times that amount today.

But inflation does not apply to property value alone. It extends to the price of the clothes you wear, the price of the food you eat, the car you ride in, the motion picture you attend on weekends, the cup of coffee you drink in restaurants, between meals, the pack of cigarettes you smoke—the list is literally nothing which the consumer may buy today which does not cost more than it did five or ten years ago.

Some persons have chosen to set themselves up as judges of what is and what is not inflated value. These persons contend that since a property which sells for $50,000 was only worth $30,000 ten years before, the property should be assessed on the basis of the former value.

This, of course, indicates a loss of the sense of values which should make property assessments and all other taxation comparable to the current value of the material which is being assessed.

If it were possible, for example, to sell a steer at three times the 1940 price-per-pound and, in turn, go to the meat market and insist upon paying 30 cents per pound for steak, most housewives would be happy. And, by the same token, it might be said that a certain portion of inflation has been curbed.

Unfortunately, however, this is impossible. When the price of beef on the hoof goes up, the price of steak also rises.

In the same way, when real values are inflated, so are the costs of operating those things which the real property (indirectly) supports. The cost of maintaining roads within the township and the cost of operating schools has been constantly mounting since the end of World War Two. These costs have kept pace with the increases in property value. Assessments, on the other hand, have not.

Price township, at present, operates no schools of its own. It finds it necessary, however, to pay non-resident tuition fees to another school for the education of its children. These costs have also risen over a period of years. (Prices' school budget has multiplied nearly four times since 1941.)

During 1951, property assessments in Price township remained at their pre-war level. The two remaining sales were assessed at 5 and 10 per cent of their value.

A $10,000 summer cottage on East Stroudsburg RD was assessed at $455 or 5 per cent of its value. A $4,000 township cottage was assessed at $400 or 10 per cent.

One property, a 30-acre tract of land which sold for $1,500, was apparently not assessed.

Price township's assessment percentage on the basis of the four recorded sales in 1951 sunk downward to a new low of 4 per cent. It had no assessments above 13 per cent during the year.

Next: Tunkhannock township.

Presenting the one fine car that is unquestionably 1952

Standard equipment, accessories, and trim illustrated are subject to change without notice. White side-wall tires, when available, optional at extra cost.

You will agree, when first you see it in your showroom, that Lincoln for 1952 is incredibly new. You will understand how one car can be so completely modern—so far advanced—that the American Road may never see its peer.

This over-all newness becomes even more apparent when you sit behind the wheel. There is more room, of course, more visibility, more convenience. Wherever you look, whatever you touch, details so small you'd never think of them yourself—all have been painstakingly improved by designers to whom nothing can be trivial.

On the road: a new kind of high-compression power for fine cars—more power than you may ever need—smooth, spirited high-compression energy from Lincoln's completely new, 1952 overhead valve V-8 engine, teamed with HYDRA-MATIC Transmission, now standard equipment. In traffic: a realistic approach to fine car motoring . . . nimble, easy to park, surprisingly compact for all its roominess. At all times: a completely new front-wheel suspension, never before used on an American production car, makes steering seem almost automatic.

This is the one fine car deliberately designed for modern living. See how much more Lincoln offers in 1952, at our showroom now.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Apparently the Pocono Mountains Baseball league hasn't learned its lesson on the inadvisability of a 12-team circuit, because the loop that operates for the most part within the confines of Monroe county has decided to divide the league into two six-team divisions, providing one more club can be found. Last year, probably one of the most successful in the long history of the circuit, the league operated with only ten clubs, a practice that supposedly was to remain intact for a number of years.

However, the league changed its plans at Monday's meeting at the Bartonville hotel, and now plans to expand to 12 teams, providing the needed material can be obtained. The Pocono Mountains league operated with 12 clubs two years ago and was in constant trouble with added problems, not to mention the terrible drain put on players in this and surrounding areas. One member of the league was forced to drop out of action that year, because of the drain on playing material.

Last season the league saw the mistake in too many teams and reduced the circuit to a single unit of ten clubs. However, even under this reduced operation the league lost one club along the way, due to lack of players. Increase in drafting and the periodic recall of reserves isn't apparently headed for improvement and the league has to look forward to the same sort of a season as last year, as far as the number of proper players is concerned. Members of the circuit were having trouble rounding up a full complement of players, even before the league began to talk of 12 teams.

If and when the circuit obtains a twelfth club, it probably will be either Gouldsboro or Newfoundland. Gouldsboro is an old hand in the Pocono Mountains league, but not the one of which we are well acquainted, but rather one that operates in Wayne and Lackawanna counties. Newfoundland was a veteran member of the Wayne County league, prior to its decision to quit the ranks last year. If either Gouldsboro or Newfoundland enters the circuit, it will be spread out in a large area—one that may prove too large.

The circuit is searching for an umpires' association to handle the play calling chores this season. It is almost a certainty that the Blue Mountain Umpires' association will be awarded the contract. This means that virtually all the men-in-blue will be from the State Belt region and will be forced to travel to such distant spots as Gouldsboro, Newfoundland and Lake Harmony, depending on whether one of the two named localities sends a club into action. The long jaunts will become unpopular with the teams late in the season, but undoubtedly will be far from popular from the opening contest with the umpires.

Expenses will play a major role in the operation of the Pocono Mountains League during the coming campaign, and it's only natural that a 12-team circuit will need more money to operate than a league composed of only ten clubs. The league will need more umpires to work the games and if the circuit becomes spread out according to advance plans, the men-in-blue may want higher pay before taking on the officiating duties. Teams will also have to travel greater distances, despite the fact that the circuit is to be divided into two sections.

After talking to several prominent members of the Pocono Mountains League, I gather that the circuit believes it can operate with 12 clubs because "open" territory has been declared. Actually the newly devised "open" territory rule won't benefit the clubs any more than the "closed" territory ruling which was in effect last year. Twelve clubs will put a terrific drain on the baseball man power in this area and surrounding territories to such an extent that none of the clubs in the league will benefit.

It is only natural for a player to want to join the ranks of the home town team, unless ill feeling have sprung up between the individual and the club. The natural trend will give the various organizations just about the same territory from which to draft talent as last year and very little additional space. On more than one occasion last season several teams had trouble fielding nine men and with the additional competition this season the task of fielding teams will be just that much more difficult.

This column isn't trying to prevent formation of new baseball clubs in this area, but rather is attempting to point out the weakness of such a move in regard to the other clubs who are well founded and ready for action. If only one of the proposed 12 teams drops out of the circuit during the coming summer months, it throws a monkey-wrench into the entire setup, as the league learned through bitter experience in the past two seasons. I sincerely hope the league will take the right step—so that its very foundation will be protected.

Catty Advances In Playoffs With Nod Over Reading

James' Goal In Last Five Seconds Decides

Harrisburg (AP)—Catasauqua's Rough Riders rode into the eastern finals of the PIAA class "A" basketball playoffs on a one-handed lay-up shot in the last five seconds.

Center Ken James' follow-up goal just before the final gun gave the Rough Riders a thrilling 46-44 victory over Reading in an inter-district clash at Hershey.

In other inter-district games, Swoyersville rallied to defeat Williamsport, 48-41 at Kingston while Pittsburgh Westinghouse eliminated Meadville, 58-33, at Pittsburgh.

Eastern Finals

Catasauqua now moves into the eastern finals March 26 against the winner of Saturday's Swoyersville-Colesville contest at Philadelphia's Penn. State. The Rough Riders led at halftime, 29-26, but became rattled in the third period and fell behind by five points.

Forward Don Leggett led the scoring for Catty with 14 points but failed to connect in the final erratic half. Bill Deibert also accounted for 14 points for the losing District Three champions.

Catty used a deliberate brand of basketball during the fourth period as the Lehigh Valley league and District 11 title holder recovered from its weak third round to hold a decided edge in the final stanza.

The Rough Riders tied the count with 2-09 remaining in the game and then went on to win in the final five seconds.

Catasauqua had a poor night from the foul line, making only 12 of 24 charity shots, while Reading rang the bell on ten of 15 chances from the same distance.

Phillies Triumph Over Senators

Clearwater, Fla. (AP)—A third inning display of power hitting yesterday gave the Philadelphia Phillies a 2-1 exhibition win over the Washington Senators.

Hits

The Phils put over both their runs in that frame on a homer by catcher Del Wilbur, a single by Richie Ashburn and a booming double off the center field wall by Willie Jones.

The Senators scored their lone tally in the second against Howie Fox, the eventual winner.

Sherman Rolls Over MIU, 60-24

Sherman Theater took the measure of MIU, 60-24, in the final game of the Senior Y league season at the Monroe County YMCA last night.

The Sherman contingent was in complete control of the game from start to finish, leading 19-8 at the end of the first period and 32-10 at the halfway mark. The ultimate winner held a 13-2 advantage during the second round.

Second Half

Action in the second half was virtually the same as that in the first half, as the Sherman force enjoyed 12-10 and 16-4 advantages in the third and fourth quarters, respectively.

Ed Reese led the Sherman attack with 23 points, while Cramer was the big gun for MIU, with ten tallies.

Homers Sink Browns

Burbank, Calif. (AP)—A fourth-inning, two-run homer by Hal Jeffcoat gave the Chicago Cubs a lead they never relinquished yesterday as they defeated the St. Louis Browns, 9-3, in an exhibition game. Hank Sauer, the Cubs' long-distance slugger, also powered a two-run blast, sparking a five-run ninth inning that sewed up the victory.

Punxsutawney Wins

Bradford (AP)—Punxsutawney High school collected five points in the final minutes of play last night to win its twentieth consecutive basketball game by beating Bradford 48-44 and capture the class "A" District Nine Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association title.

Veteran ESSTC Track Squad Preparing For Time Trials To Be Held First Week In April

East Stroudsburg State Teachers College is buzzing with preparation for the spring sports schedule, despite the fact that winter weather clings to the area in a futile battle against spring's warm breezes.

Among the busiest athletes up on Normal Hill are those attempting to land a position on the track squad.

Coach Howard DeNike, beginning his twenty-second year at the helm of the ESSTC elder and field men, has had his charges working out since the last week in February, although much of the early work was confined to the gymnasium. However, the trackmen have been outside for almost three weeks, despite inclement weather.

DeNike is busy preparing his pupils for the important time and distance trials to be held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, April 1, 2 and 3. Approximately 40 hopefuls are working toward a regular berth on the squad which opens the season against West Chester on Saturday, April 19, on the ESSTC track.

Tough Foe

The Warriors have lost only three dual track meets in the past six years, but all have been at the hands of this same West Chester contingent.

DeNike has 15 veterans on hand at the present time. Those back from last year include Bob Brown, 440, mile and javelin; Frank Cantwell, hurdler; George DeLong, pole vault; Bob Fisher, pole vault and broad jump; Victor Gilbert, unable to compete last year because of a back injury, is back to pick up in the dash events where he left off two campaigns ago, and Tom Grater, shot, discus and pole vault specialist.

The list of veterans also includes Frank Herman, manager; Don Lewis, 440; Andy Levendis, javelin, shot put and discus; Roger Neilson, high jump; Mark Nejak, 880 and mile, although he is the type of runner who can go any distance; John Parks, high jump, hurdles and dashes; Art Nusas, dashes; Bob Phelps, discus, broad jump, shot put and javelin, and Bill Schaeffer back for another crack at making the squad.

Among the newcomers battling for positions on the squad are Paul Anderson, freshman low hurdles expert; Dick Ashner, sophomore discus hopeful; Gene "Muff" Chamberlin, Henry Butler, Jim Collier, Tom Dowling, Bob Fabel, a Stroudsburg High graduate; Joe

Westinghouse Trips Meadville

Pittsburgh (AP)—Pittsburgh Westinghouse, City League champion and District Eight Representative in the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association, bounced Meadville out of the Western Regional class "A" basketball playoffs last night with an easy 58-33 win.

Meadville, District Ten representatives, trailed only three points, 9-12, at the end of the first period but Westinghouse took a 27-19 halftime lead and was ahead 44-24 going into the final quarter.

Top Scorers

John Miller paced Westinghouse with 14 points while Willie Hunter led Meadville with 13.

Westinghouse connected on 25 of 75 field goal attempts while Meadville hit on only 15 of 55. Westinghouse made good on eight of 16 free throws while Meadville connected on but three of 14.

Scranton Falls Before Siena

Troy, N. Y. (AP)—Top-seeded Siena trounced Scranton, 79-57, last night to enter the semi-finals of the fourth annual National Catholic Invitation Basketball tournament.

The defending champion, St. Francis of Brooklyn, defeated Lemoyne, 75-61, in another quarter-final at Rensselaer Poly's field house.

In the semi-finals Friday night, Siena meets the winner of the St. Francis (Pa.)-St. Joseph's (Phila.) quarter-final tonight, and St. Francis (Rklyn.) faces the winner of the Marquette-Iona game.

Big Gun

Jack Merry rolled up 25 points for Siena to take scoring laurels. Siena jumped off to a 10-0 lead, sparked by four Merry goals in his first four tries.

Billy Harrell scored 16 points to post 369 for Siena this year, one over the previous Siena record.

Scranton cut into Siena's lead late in the game when Siena Coach Dan Cunha subbed freely.

County League Drops Banquet For One Year

Tannersville — The Monroe County League will be without its annual post-season basketball banquet this year, it was decided after long discussion of the subject at a meeting of the Monroe County Athletic Association last night, here at Pocono High school.

Lack of funds and a suitable date were given as the reasons for calling the affair off this year. However, the step wasn't taken until all the schools represented had thoroughly discussed the problem.

The group also decided to abolish its annual principals and coaches dinner meeting for this year.

Discussion

A thorough discussion on rules and regulations and the constitution governing the league was also held.

Lawrence "Joe" Wile and Harry Werkheiser, principal and coach at Pocono High, were appointed to draw up the baseball schedule for the coming campaign.

The next meeting of the group may be held in May. Tobyhanna Township was the only school not represented at the meeting.

Those schools represented were Pocono, Conowingo, Polk, Chestnut Hill and Barrett.

Lupo Gains Nod Over Carideo

Newark, N.J. (AP)—Joey Lupo, 147, Lodi, won an eight-round decision over Joey Carideo, 148, Youngstown, Ohio, in the feature match at Laurel Garden last night.

Both fighters suffered eye lacerations in the rough bout. Lupo, a 21-year-old plumber's helper, was credited with six rounds and the third and seventh were called even.

Collection

Five per cent of the gate receipts for last night's fight will be turned over to Cliff Murphy, Passaic heavyweight, whose three children died when a fire destroyed their home last week while Murphy was out seeking work and his mother was in a hospital. A ringside collection also netted $850, a Garden spokesman said.

Rochester Triumphs

Rochester, N. Y. (AP)—The defending champion Rochester Royals opened their bid for another National Basketball Association crown by thumping the Fort Wayne Zolners, 95-78, in the opener of their best-of-three first round playoff series last night.

Pirates Nip Giants

San Bernardino, Calif. (AP)—Bill Howerton's triple with two out in the eleventh inning chased home two runners and brought the Pittsburgh Pirates a 3-2 victory over the New York Giants yesterday.

Holup Leads Swoyersville To Decision Over Williamsport

Wilkes-Barre, (AP)—With all-State Center Joe Holup getting 19 of his 29 points in the second half, Swoyersville High school rallied to gain a 48-41 triumph over Williamsport last night and advance into the PIAA's class "A" quarter-finals with Coatesville Saturday night.

Rally

The Sailors, champions of District Two for the last three years, lagged 22-20 at half time. Holup made eight points in the third period to put Eddie Chiamp's boys ahead, 33-31, going into the final period. Holup hit for four goals and made three straight foul shots in the final session to break the game wide open and give the Sailors their twenty-seventh win against three losses.

Bob Baily led the District Four champions with 13 points.

PGL Defeats Hazleton In Freeland Play

Freeland — Pocono Gardens Lodge gave a demonstration of its basketball power here in the Freeland YMCA last night, as the contingent composed of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College students advanced beyond the first round in the annual Freeland Tournament with a convincing 84-45 victory over the Hazleton Zephyrs.

Ray Caseman was the spark of PGL's strong first half, as the Monroe County contingent took over a 14-10 lead at the end of the first period and then came back to dominate the second round, 32-17.

Big Blow

John Sloane took over for Caseman in the third period and was the big gun in the attack that netted PGL 33 points to 11 for the Hazleton quintet. The PGL club, under the guidance of Coach Jim Thurston, made certain of victory with a 19-17 bulge in the last period scoring.

PGL made ten of 18 shots from the foul line, while the Zephyrs rang the bell on 11 of 17 attempts.

The Pocono Gardens Lodge quintet returns to action in the tournament a week from Friday and will meet the winner of the Lansford-Wood's Lumberman contest. The tournament is featuring 30 teams this year.

Christenberry Given Drastic New Powers

Albany, N. Y. (AP) — The legislature yesterday voted boxing boss Bob Christenberry the sweeping powers he wants to purge "the criminal scum" from the fight game in New York state.

The Senate passed 52-2 a bill that would give the new chairman of the State Athletic Commission unprecedented controls over fighters and managers and power to rout racketeers and shady characters from boxing.

Request
When Christenberry took over as boxing czar, he vowed he would "clean up" the sport or ask that it be outlawed.

Cardinals Pound Cincinnati, 11-0
Tampa, Fla. (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals pounded Kenny Ruffenberger and rookie Joe Nuxhall for 20 assorted hits, including Hal Rice's three-run homer, as they whaled the Cincinnati Reds, 11 to 0, in an exhibition game yesterday.

Hurlers
Lefty Cliff Chambers and newcomer Willard Schmidt restricted the Redlegs to four safeties, all singles.

Stroudsburg Junior Varsity Nips All-Stars

Stroudsburg High school's junior varsity basketball team took the measure of an all-star contingent chosen from those cagers who performed in the Arthur Smickley Memorial league yesterday, 34-31. The Smickley league is an intramural circuit. The game was played on the Stroudsburg High court.

Bill Bailey coached the junior varsity to victory, despite the fact that the All-Stars held a 6-5 advantage at the end of the first period.

Gain Lead
However, the junior varsity contingent took over the lead at the halfway mark, 17-16, and continued to hold that position for the remainder of the distance, despite the fact that the All-Stars held a 10-8 advantage during the final round.

Castellani Signed To Tangle With Bratton In Garden Ring

New York, (AP) — The International Boxing club yesterday signed middleweight champion Johnny Bratton of Chicago, to meet former NBA welterweight champion Johnny Bratton of Chicago in a ten-round NBA at Madison Square Garden, March 28.

Castellani subs for undefeated Johnny Saxton, who originally had been scheduled to face Bratton. The New York Athletic commission ruled that Saxton should not fight in the Garden so soon after his fiascos with Livio Minelli and Lester Felton.

Victories
Saxton won from Felton on a six round disqualification in the Garden last Friday. Felton was disqualified for continuous holding. Saxton was awarded a seventh-round technical knockout over Minelli when Referee Ruby Goldstein stopped the bout because Minelli was "overmatched."

Castellani's last fight in the Garden on January 11 also produced a rhu-barb. He was stopped in the seventh round by Ernie Durando. Tommy "Ryan" Ebboli, who was his manager then, assaulted Referee Ray Miller for halting the bout. Ryan was fined and his license was revoked by the State Athletic commission.

Tex Sullivan is Castellani's present manager.

Final League Contest
Deerhead Inn and the Eagles tangle in the final Industrial League game of the season at the Monroe County YMCA today. Action is listed for 7 p.m.

Curriculum Group Mails Questionnaires To Grads

The Stroudsburg High school curriculum committee this week began mailing out questionnaires to all graduates and former students of the school in an effort to determine just what effect the school's studies have had on the later life of its students.

James T. Anthony, chairman of the committee, yesterday urged all graduates who receive the form to "answer with complete frankness all of the questions in it." Since the forms will remain unsigned, the individual may feel perfectly free to express himself with honesty, committee members feel.

On the basis of replies to the questionnaire the committee hopes to make certain revisions to the present curriculum which may help future students at the school in preparing themselves for life in a professional career or work of their choosing.

A reasonably thorough knowledge of the student's preparation as a citizen may be reflected in his answers to such questions as: "To what extent did this school help you in meeting the need to understand the duties and rights of a citizen?" Questions related to the individual's needs as a human being are also included.

In all cases, the individual uses his own judgment in determining what effect the school has had on his later life.

A stamped envelope is enclosed with the questionnaire. All former students and graduates are asked to fill out the form and return it "as soon as possible" to the committee. This promptness will make some revisions possible before the next school year begins.
